Laem – Stretch Mark Prevention Cream for Prenatal and Postnatal Women

The CTS Company hereby notifies that a malfunction occurred in the production of its product: " Laem – Stretch Mark Prevention Cream for Prenatal and Postnatal Women", sold in 200 ml tubes, lilac colored with a white cap and with no packing box. This product has been found to be contaminated and should therefore not be used.

Out of our concern for the public and the consumers, the company has taken swift action to prevent the defective products from reaching the retail shelves and is recalling the product from the retail outlets.

However, the company's investigations have concluded that a few units of this product have been sold at pharmacies in Ashdod, Nahariya, Bilu and Shikun Dan in Tel Aviv.

Those customers who have purchased the product are requested to refrain from using it, to return it to the pharmacy from which it was purchased and receive a full refund.

CTS apologizes for this malfunction and thanks its customers for their understanding and cooperation.
