Yesh Maof BaGalil Ltd. Company is notifying its clients of a suspicion for the presence of salmonella enteritidis, a bacteria that may cause diarrhea and fever in the eggs marked "Yesh Maof" in the below table and in which the last date to be marketed has passed (expired), yet the final date for usage when refrigerated has not yet passed. It is necessary to mention that as of the 03.06.19, eggs from the company's farms have not at all been marketed, and this matter concerns a minimal quantity. Yesh Maof Company has made safeguarding the public health to the best of its ability and cooperation with the authorities its motto, and despite the time that had passed, is requesting its consumers not to consume the aforementioned marked eggs.
